

Orange Farms' crime stats worrying

Police Minister, General Bheki Cele, recently released the Quarter 4 Crime statistics showing figures from January to March 2023, Orange Farms SAPS featured amongst top 30 stations with recorded cases of several crimes.

The station recorded 48 murder cases making it the station with the highest murder cases in Gauteng. It is also amongst the top 5 stations in the country. Countrywide, murder increased by 3.4% between January and March 2023.

Murder is not the only rampant crime in the area, the station is also featured amongst the top 30 stations in terms of:

- Rape - 40 cases;
- Sexual Assault - 48 cases;
- Robbery with Aggravating Circumstances - 171 cases;
- Trio Crimes - 85 cases;
- Carjacking - 54 cases;
- Truck Hijacking - 11 cases and
- Kidnapping - 31 cases.

On the positive side, the station managed to take 35 Illegal Firearms out of the streets in the first 3 months of the year.

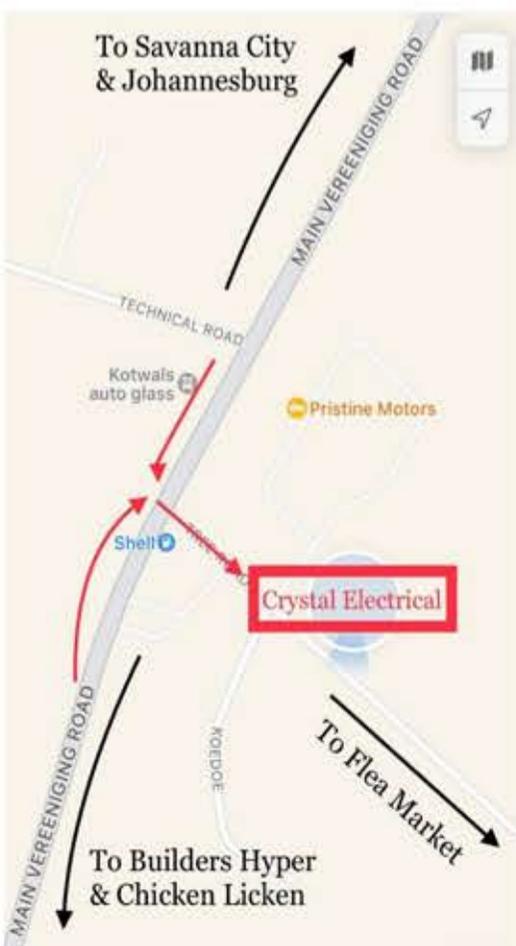

The figures only show the recorded number of cases and do not highlight the number of arrests and successful convictions.

With crime so rampant, what ought to be done to transform and make Greater Orange Farm a safe place to live in?

Minister of Police, Bheki Cele has allocated R 1,8 billion for procurement of police vehicles to improve visibility

Tjovitjo residents empowered with financial literacy

A number of Tjovitjo residents of all ages received certificates for completing a Mind My Money Workshop

On 1 June, Tjovitjo residents received financial literacy training at the Ufuzo Agricultural and Drop Off Centre in the area.

The 'Mind My Money Workshop' was sponsored by Liberty to equip individuals with the knowledge to unlock their financial freedom and also help them understand money and spend it wisely. Recent matriculants, the elderly and more residents attended.

Intouch Youth Development and Community Justice's Ronney Peter Kapaso was the MC of the day while financial literacy facilitator, Julius Nthoba, delivered the lessons. Nthoba identified the three key types of income one could possibly obtain and benefit from, these are: earned income, passive income and portfolio income.

He also stressed the importance of being able to clearly define the distinct differences between a need and a want. Having the ability to do so plays a crucial role in taking financial decisions that are fit, sound and will pave the way to financial freedom.

"The mind cannot tell the difference between R2 and R1000," Nthoba stated when he delved into the concept of developing the mindset of an investor.

It does not matter how much money you invest on a month-to-month basis, what is important is that one maintains the habit of investing successively over a long period of time and must abstain from all temptations to access and use the funds, unless absolutely necessary to do so.

Although it took place over a period of 2-3 hours, the workshop was packed with an abundance of life-changing information.

At the end, all participants received certificates.

Nonhlanhla Sifumba (far left) helped local women transform dumping sites to gardens where they will grow vegetables to supplement their diets

Ward 5 & 6 women convert dumping sites to gardens

On 3 June, DA's PR Cllr Nonhlanhla Sifumba, assisted women in Wards 6 and 5 to convert dumping sites into vegetable gardens.

"With the help from Johannesburg City Parks and Zoo, I managed to get seedlings as well as mustard, spinach, beetroot and lettuce seeds. The elation was quite visible and felt, the women did not waste any time, they cleared the area and started planting. I will often check their progress and support with more seeds, fencing as well as fertiliser."

Should you be willing to assist in this initiative, please reach out that this project may feed more families.

To support, contact Sifumba on 082 925 7496.

Eyethu Mall's Ackermans donates winter clothes to Drieziek's Lusemanzi ECD

Eyethu Mall's Ackermans brought smiles to Drieziek 3's Lusemanzi ECD learners when they donated tracksuits and jackets to keep them warm during the winter season. Lusemanzi founder, Lorato Duma said she is grateful to Ackermans for such a beautiful donation. She told OFN: "We really appreciate the love and support from Ackermans. They donated warm tracksuits for babies aged 6 to 24 months and older. I'm very thankful, words fail me, may they continue with the good work of taking care of the community and God bless them." Ackermans' branch manager, Mapule Mokae, told added: "Once or twice a year, Ackermans donates clothes to charity. We chose Lusemanzi ECD after I visited the centre and realised that some children needed warm clothes. We are happy to bring smiles to their faces."

Karry KaySA's Women Empowerment Campaign seeks toiletry donations

Artist, actress, dancer, model and radio presenter, Karabo 'Karry KaySA' Mogale, pleads with the Orange Farm residents and local businesses to donate toiletries for the Women Empowerment Campaign launched last year to distribute sanitary towels and toiletries to young girls, boys and women in need. "We want to assist disadvantaged families and appeal to well wishers to help us achieve this goal and bring change in the community. We need food parcels, toiletries, sanitary towels, clothes and other donations to be distributed to those in need in the community," Karry KaySA told OFN.

Sibonokuhle calls for your help to make it to the US

Sibonokuhle Thwala

Orange Farm Ext 2's Sibonokuhle Thwala has been offered a scholarship to study Desktop Publishing and Digital Imaging Studies at the North West Kansas Technical College in the United States of America (USA).

The scholarship covers his tuition, accommodation food and other stuff but does not cover his visa and flight tickets. The 19-year-old Inhlonipho Primary and Prestige College alumni told OFN "My classes start on 7 August, I'm asking for help to raise R25 000 to cover my visa (R9 000) and flight ticket (R16 000). I have tried a back-a-buddy campaign but it's not moving. I'm still on R0. I plead with businesses, organisations and well-wishers to please assist. I need to complete visa applications before the month ends." Sibonokuhle is an athlete competing in 1500m and 3000m events, he is a member of Phantane Athletics Club.

To assist, you can make a deposit to his Capitec account: Mr SA Thwala Account Number: 1846467908 Branch Code: 470010 Contact him on 082 632 4285 for more details.

Shef And The Kitchen's new single now available on all digital platforms

Shef Hlophe

Shef And The Kitchen Music hosted an African Live Music Show and launched the 'Mama' single at the Art Studio @5018 in Orange Farm Ext 3 on Saturday, 28 May.

This single composed to celebrate mothers was launched in a music extravaganza that saw various artists entertaining music lovers who came in their numbers.

Some of the artists who performed before Shef And The Kitchen closed the show with a bang are as follows: Moseou; Makhlabhande; Terrence McKay; DJ Syd; DJ Jabby Jabbz; Yvonne M; Soultainment and Mxolisi M.C just to name a few.

Shef And The Kitchen's Shef Hlophe told OFN "The event was a huge success, music lovers came in their numbers and really enjoyed themselves. We started hosting Live Music Shows last year as a build up for the launch of 'Mama' – a song dedicated to all mothers for the love, care and support they give us. It also celebrates and honour them. It was great seeing local artists sharing the stage and their love for African music while also showcasing their talents."

Mama's music video is not yet out. For now, stream or download the song, use following link: <https://orcd.co/bjm36lv>

'I am a writer without boundaries:' Sphehile

Sphehile Msibi

Orange Farm Ext 2's Sphehile Msibi (18) published his debut novel "The Trenches" online on 3 June.

The young author's short novel is set in Orange Farm and follows real life events and hindrances. It touches a main problem in our daily lives which is crime. "I started writing this fascinating read with a thrilling suspense last year. The novel's main storyline is that no matter what you do and try to live your life righteously, your environment and surroundings can eventually compel you into a life of vice," Sphe told OFN. He has his own quote, 'I am a writer without boundaries' and aspires to eventually portray his works through movies and series'. "I'm a creative person who deeply loves art. I dream of owning a production company so that I can tell the stories I have in my mind. The film and book industry must watch out, this is only the beginning," he said. Sphe is inspired by Robert Greene, the author of 'The 48 Laws Of Power'. "He is my favourite author because of his broad mindset and his ability to publish intellectual and mind-changing books," added Sphe. Even though Sphe is not affiliated to any publishing house, he has copyrighted his book which can be found online on pdfdrive.com and wattpad.com

Register for Cllr Ndzondo's Winter Games

Netball and soccer clubs are invited to register their U13, U15 and U17 teams for the second edition of Ward 5 Cllr Mxolisi Ndzondo and partners' Winter Games to run from 24 June to 17 July at the Bhengu Sports Grounds in Drieziek 5.

The tournament seeks to discover local talent while keeping the youth off the streets during the June school holidays. Cllr Ndzondo told OFN: "We look forward to the 2nd edition of this tournament and urge teams to register and bring their 'A' game to the field as we have invited scouts from upper divisions. We aim to groom future stars who will represent Orange Farm in big leagues and national sports. We also invite community members to come in their numbers to support this tournament and witness local talent."

On the day, there will also be a ladies soccer open. For more info please call 060 384 2429.
