Noluthando Zakwe

Leshata Secondary's Noluthando shines with 100% in Business Studies

Ext 6a's Noluthando Zakwe (16) has proven that hard work and determination can overcome any challenge. With an impressive APS score of 38+, Noluthando not only passed her matric with flying colours but also achieved an outstanding 100% in Business Studies- a feat she describes as a dream come true.

Noluthando told OFN: "I'm overexcited! At first, I couldn't believe it. But then I remembered that I never scored below 90% in Business Studies throughout the year. This achievement means so much to me."

Her journey wasn't without its hurdles. Noluthando faced challenges such as load shedding, which sometimes delayed her studies. "There were times I had to wait for the electricity to return because certain aspects of Business Studies required me to use my phone," she explains.

Despite these obstacles, she remained focused and resilient. Her Business Studies teacher, Mr Mokotoane, played a significant role in her success. "I'm so grateful to Mr Mokotoane. His guidance and support kept me motivated and helped me excel in this subject," Noluthando shared.

Noluthando's exceptional performance earned her an invitation to the official matric results announcement ceremony, where her hard work was celebrated. With a bachelor's pass in hand and her determination shining brightly, Noluthando is an inspiration to her peers and a testament to the power of perseverance. She plans to pursue a teaching degree, with a major in Business Studies, or alternatively, a Bachelor of Commerce (BCom).

Back to school: First-time learners embrace big school

Images: ExpressProductions

On 15 January, thousands of learners across the country returned to school, but all eyes were on the first-time learners, who stepped into their classrooms with a mix of excitement and nerves.

Thanks to Early Childhood Development (ECD) centres, many of these young learners were already accustomed to a school environment, making the transition smoother. Gone are the days of tearful goodbyes – now, children confidently walk into their new learning spaces with smiles.

At Masibambane College, the scene was filled with emotions as parents accompanied their little ones. While some parents looked anxious, the children quickly embraced their first day, supported by welcoming teachers who went above and beyond to make them feel comfortable. For these young learners, it was the start of a beautiful journey, with many more milestones to come.

To the residents of Orange Farm, Drieziek, and Palm Springs

LETTER TO EDITOR BY LERATO SIRENGQE

Our communities are facing a serious challenge-crime is stripping us of our peace, security and happiness, leaving us living in constant fear.

We understand the hardships caused by poverty and unemployment, but vandalising our shared spaces-such as roads, sidewalks, street signs, schools, churches and recreational facilities-only makes things worse.

A call to our leaders

Community leaders, we urge you to take decisive action. Councilors, we need visible progress in our neighbourhoods. The repair and maintenance of our roads and streets must be a priority. Wastewater drainage systems should function properly and any blockages must be addressed without delay. We placed our trust in you by electing you-now, we expect to see real change and improved living conditions.

A call to the police

To the South African Police Services, we look to you for protection. Confronting crime must be your top priority and we need firm action against those who vandalise community property, including roads and signage. The theft of pavement bricks and other community assets is a crime that must not go unpunished. Your role is to safeguard our properties and ensure our safety.

A call to the community

Residents, it is up to us to report crime. If we remain silent, we put our safety at risk. But by standing together and taking action, we can reclaim our communities and eliminate crime from our streets. Let's work towards a brighter 2025-a year of peace, unity and progress.

Abantu Literacy League offers free internet access to support matriculants

In a bid to empower youth and address the financial barriers faced by matriculants from disadvantaged backgrounds, Abantu Literacy League has announced a generous initiative.

The community-focused centre will provide free internet access for matriculants to assist with application follow-ups, applying for opportunities, checking emails, NSAFS follow-ups and more. However, in an effort to ensure this service reaches those who need it most, they ask that students bring their own devices (BYOD). Abantu Literacy League's Dumezweni Ndweni, told OFN: "Due to limited resources, we can only assist with one or two devices. We understand many of the students who would benefit from this may not have data, so please help us spread the word."

Despite operating without external funding, the passionate team behind Abantu Literacy League consists of young volunteers who, though unemployed, have committed their personal data plans to support their peers. This admirable effort to make life a little easier for others truly deserves recognition. The centre is also seeking donations of whiteboards, chalkboards, chairs and tables to further support its work. If you would like to contribute, please call Dumezweni on 073 678 9856, Nobuhle on 068 188 6060 or Sihle on 067 833 9824. The centres' operation hours are as follows:

Weekdays: 12:00 - 17:30
Weekends: 10:00 - 15:00
