Ndobe outlines plan for Johannesburg

Simon Ndobe

Convention Economic Movement (CEM) leader Simon Ndobe has pledged to prioritise jobs, cleaner communities and stronger service delivery if elected to lead Johannesburg.

Addressing residents, Ndobe said the City has the potential to reclaim its position as South Africa's economic hub but is being held back by poor governance and corruption. "Johannesburg can work again if we put residents first," he said. Ndobe told OFN a CEM-led administration would expand the Expanded Public Works Programme (EPWP), introduce a transport allowance for job seekers and strengthen the fight against corruption. He also called for closer cooperation between the Johannesburg Metropolitan Police Department (JMPD) and private security companies to combat crime and drug abuse. Ndobe urged residents to vote in the upcoming local government elections, saying community participation will be key to bringing meaningful change.

Gizzards dispute leaves one dead

An Orange Farms SAPS detective, accused of killing one man and injuring another during a dispute over chicken gizzards, is set to appear at the Sebokeng Magistrates' Court on 24 July, for bail application.

Detective Cst Elias Moeketsi Pinkoane (34), from Orange Farms SAPS, faces charges of murder, attempted murder, handling a firearm while under the influence of alcohol and discharging a firearm in a public place.

According to National Prosecuting Authority (NPA) spokesperson Tshegofatso Makhudu, the shooting occurred outside BK Lifestyle Cafe in Sebokeng, Zone 14 during the early hours of 12 July.

The State alleges Pinkoane, who was off duty, arrived at the venue in a state vehicle at about 3am. As the cafe closed, an argument broke out after one customer tried to buy the last remaining chicken gizzards.

Pinkoane retrieved his service pistol from the vehicle and opened fire before fleeing the scene. One man died, a second was hospitalised with gunshot wounds and a third escaped unharmed. Investigators recovered spent cartridge cases at the scene and inside the state vehicle used in the shooting.

Pinkoane was arrested later that day at his residence.

The South African Police Service (SAPS) said internal disciplinary proceedings will run alongside the criminal case. Pinkoane remains in custody pending his bail application.

As the matter is before court, he remains an accused person and the allegations against him have not been tested.

Orange Farm buckles under escalating service delivery crisis

Overflowing sewerage, stagnant wastewater, illegal dumping and deteriorating roads continue to plague residents across Drieziek 1, Ext 9 Phase 1, Ext 6b, 7b, 8a and 8b. Residents say the conditions are threatening their health, safety and dignity as repeated complaints appear to have brought little lasting relief

A man was arrested after JMPD officers recovered illicit substances during an operation

Suspect nabbed in drug bust

Mandrax tablets and crystal meth were seized during a Johannesburg Metropolitan Police Department (JMPD) Tactical Response Unit operation in Tjovitjo, on 15 July, leading to the arrest of a man on drug possession charges.

The arrest followed a routine patrol when officers spotted a group of men. As police approached, the group fled, triggering a foot chase. After cornering one of the men, officers searched him and allegedly recovered 10 Mandrax tablets and seven packets of crystal meth. He was arrested and detained at Orange Farm SAPS, where further investigations are under way.

JMPD said the operation forms part of ongoing efforts to curb drug-related crime and remove illegal substances from communities across Johannesburg.

The metro police also praised the Tactical Response Unit officers for their swift response and urged residents to continue reporting criminal activity as law enforcement intensifies its crackdown on drugs.

Team Sancha gives young dancers a stage to grow

What began as a local dance crew is evolving into a youth development initiative, using mentorship, after-school activities and performance to help aspiring artists reach their potential.

Founded by local dancer and choreographer Sanele "Tom" Sancha, the programme offers dance training while promoting discipline, teamwork and confidence. The team includes Killer, Shimmy, Teddy, Monde, Sanza McFlurry, Khanyi and Lumka. "Many young people have talent, but they do not always have a platform or someone who believes in them.

Team Sancha is about giving them that opportunity," said Sancha.

Beyond dance, the initiative supports the community through Sancha's School Tour Donations Initiative, which has provided more than 500 pairs of school shoes to learners in schools around Orange Farm. With new performances and youth projects planned for 2026, Team Sancha hopes to expand its reach and become a recognised platform for emerging dancers across Orange Farm and neighbouring communities.

MduvaDeejay eyes MAMA 2026

Mduduzi "MduvaDeeJay" Mazibuko, calls on the community to help turn a national nomination into an award after being shortlisted in the Best DJ category at the Mzansi Arts and Media Awards 2026.

The Ext 7b entertainer is among DJs from across South Africa recognised for their contribution to the country's music and entertainment industry.

"This nomination means a lot to me because it reflects the support I have received from my community and everyone who believes in my journey. I encourage people to vote and help me bring this award home," said MduvaDeeJay.

For me, it has been an eye opener for South Africans. Many South Africans have started businesses, while others have been able to explore their talents. The March and March movement reflects growing frustration with government's failure to address unemployment, crime, border management and the enforcement of labour laws. Many South Africans feel their concerns are only taken seriously after protests, while businesses and authorities are not held sufficiently accountable for illegal hiring practices. The prominence of leaders from one ethnic group has also raised concerns about division, with many believe these issues should unite all South Africans rather than separate them. Ultimately, citizens want effective leadership, equal representation and practical solutions that create jobs, uphold the law and put the interests of all South Africans first.

Dialogue tackles GBV and LGBTQI+ challenges

Community members attend the "Let's Talk GBV & Law" dialogue at Orange Farm Skills Centre, where discussions focused on GBV awareness, legal rights and LGBTQI+ inclusion

Community members gathered at the Orange Farm Skills Centre on 16 July for a dialogue focused on Gender-Based Violence (GBV), legal rights and LGBTQI+ issues. Hosted by Lawyers Against Abuse (LvA) in partnership with Orange Farm LGBTQI+, the "Let's Talk GBV & Law" dialogue created a platform for residents to discuss challenges affecting vulnerable groups, learn about available legal support and promote safer, more inclusive communities. Held under the theme "Proud. United. Visible.", the event encouraged open conversations around discrimination, abuse and the importance of knowing one's rights. Biotumelo Pinkoane, from Lawyers Against Abuse said the dialogue was aimed at empowering community members with information and support. "Knowledge is one of the strongest tools in preventing abuse. We want people to understand their rights, know where to seek help and feel empowered to take action when facing injustice," Pinkoane said. An Orange Farm LGBTQI+'s Nkalimeng Sephapo, said the discussion helped create visibility and a safe space for community members to share their experiences. "Conversations like these are important because they help challenge stigma and remind people that everyone deserves dignity, respect and protection," said Sephapo. The organisers said continued community engagement is necessary to address GBV and discrimination while strengthening support networks for those affected.

Mandela Day outreach brings hope to Vuyiswa Home

SAAYC Orange Farm Centre Manager, Tlou Jonathan Boloka, joined volunteers and community partners during the outreach at Ext 3 Home for the Disabled Essential household and personal care items were handed over to residents of Vuyiswa Home for the Disabled on 18 July during a Mandela Day outreach programme focused on dignity, inclusion and community support.

The initiative was led by the Southern African Association of Youth Clubs (SAAYC) Orange Farm in partnership with local organisations, volunteers and community stakeholders. SAAYC Orange Farm Centre Manager, Tlou Jonathan Boloka, told OFN that the outreach reflected the community service.

"This initiative is not only about donating essential products, but also about showing residents that they are valued, supported and included. Through collective action, we can keep Nelson Mandela's spirit alive and build a more caring community," said Boloka.

Volunteers also spent time engaging with residents and sharing moments of joy during the visit. SAAYC Orange Farm thanked all organisations and community members who supported the programme and reaffirmed its commitment to initiatives that uplift vulnerable residents.

Small act brings big change to Leratong Day Care

A brighter space now welcomes young minds in Drieziek 4

Exclusive Key Properties marked Mandela Day by cleaning and painting a classroom at Leratong Day Care in Drieziek 4.

The initiative created a brighter and more welcoming space where children can learn, play and grow.

Precious Vilakazi, Principal and Director at Exclusive Key Properties, said the team wanted to honour Nelson Mandela's legacy through practical community service. "Mandela Day reminds us that change does not always require grand gestures. By giving our time and working together, we were able to create a better environment for the children at Leratong Day Care," Vilakazi said.

She added that the project reflected the spirit of Mandela Day, which encourages people to dedicate 67 minutes of their time to serve others and make a difference in their communities.

The team's efforts left the day care with a cleaner, freshly painted classroom demonstrated how tiny thing can matter if it's done out of love.

ATM marks Mandela Day with dignity drive

Care packs bring dignity, confidence and smiles to young beneficiaries

More than 100 children in Orange Farm Ext 2 received toiletry packs on 17 July, as the African Transformation Movement (ATM) marked Mandela Day with a dignity and hygiene drive.

The donation benefited 50 girls and 50 boys, with each child receiving essential personal care items. ATM Ward 4 councillor candidate, Khonzaphi Mbele, told OFN "Mandela Day reminds us that the 67 minutes you spare can make a huge impact. Every child deserves to feel loved, cared for and valued." Mbele said the initiative aimed to support vulnerable children while promoting dignity, hope and a sense of belonging in the community.

Community honours elders

LoveLife celebrates a lifetime of dedication through meaningful kasi engagement with COJ MMC for Transport, Kenny Kunene

The spirit of Nelson Mandela Day came alive in Orange Farm as senior citizens were celebrated through sport, entertainment and community service at the LoveLife Y Centre in Ext 6a on 18 July.

Hosted by LoveLife in partnership with Raising Champions NPO, the event brought together senior citizens, young people, community organisations and political representatives to promote active ageing and recognise the contribution of older persons. Activities included soccer, netball, health awareness, games, music, dance performances and refreshments. Young people also spent time with the elders, adding to the joyful atmosphere. Raising Champions' Director, Mmalerato Rabotapi, said MMC Kenny Kunene, and Patriotic Alliance members donated trophies, medals and cash prizes. ActionSA Ward 4 councillor candidate, Pule Motloutse, said his team joined the initiative after being approached by the local football association to assist this Mandela Day.

Every step counted towards giving local learners a better start

Fun run delivers support to disadvantaged learners

The V-Tach Generosity Fun Run brought community members and partners together in Orange Farm, on 18 July to collect essential school supplies for disadvantaged learners. Participants gathered at V-Tach College before completing a 3.5km community run aimed at collecting school shoes, sanitary products and stationery for children who lack basic educational necessities.

Dr Ronnie Kapaso, told OFN "Together, we are proving that when communities unite, we can make a meaningful difference in the lives of our children." Timeline Body Lab, Genes Original, Hollywood Bets and Sipho Malume Pads Drive supported the initiative. Organisers also thanked the participants, volunteers, sponsors and supporters who helped make the event possible.

Making everyday a Mandela Day

Staff, volunteers and youngsters join forces to care for the environment while building team work and responsibility

On 17 July, Afrika Tikkun's Arekopaneng Centre in Ext 8b marked Mandela Day with a community driven initiative that brought together staffers and young people for a day of service dedicated to improving the learning environment for children. Commemorating Nelson Mandela's legacy of service and active citizenship, staff joined forces to clean classrooms, refresh learning spaces, plant seedlings and care for the Centre's surroundings. Together, they created a cleaner and more welcoming environment where children and young people can learn, grow and reach their full potential. The day was about more than caring for the Centre. It was an opportunity to encourage young people to take pride in the spaces they share and to experience the value of giving back to their community. Through activities such as cleaning, gardening and environmental care, they learnt the importance of responsibility, teamwork and active citizenship. Ignite Manager, Tshepo Motaung told

OFN: "Mandela Day is an opportunity to remind young people that they have the power to make a positive difference in their communities. When children take ownership of their environment and contribute to its upkeep, they develop a sense of pride, belonging and responsibility that extends beyond the centre and into their homes and communities." While Mandela Day is observed once a year, the values it represents continue every day at Afrika Tikkun. By working together to care for our communities and create safe, welcoming spaces for children and young people, we continue to build a culture of kindness, responsibility and collective action. Afrika Tikkun extended its sincere appreciation to every staff member and young person who dedicated their time and energy to the initiative. Together, they demonstrated that meaningful change begins with everyday acts of service and a shared commitment to strengthening the communities we serve.

Gear boost lifts kasi cricket club

Thabo Maphisa, Bongani Ramathe and Nicholas Maluleke show off the sponsored cricket equipment

On 12 July, Orange Farm Cricket Club received a timely donation of cricket equipment from Play it Forward Jozi and FC Redemption Academy, helping remove one of the biggest barriers facing young players - access to quality sporting gear. The donation is expected to strengthen the Club's youth development programme by ensuring aspiring cricketers have the equipment they need to train consistently, improve their skills and compete with confidence. Coach Bongani Ramathe, said the contribution is about more than just bats and protective gear. "Having the right equipment means our players can train properly, play with confidence and continue to represent Orange Farm Cricket Club with pride," he said. Ramathe thanked Play it Forward Jozi and FC Redemption Academy for investing in local talent, while also recognising Timeline Radio sports presenter TaWally Wally and Tebogo Mokubung for helping facilitate the donation. "Thank you to TaWally Wally and Tebogo Mokubung for making this donation possible and ensuring our players received the support they need. We appreciate everyone who believes in our club," he added.

Children from local ECD centres compete in fun-filled races and team activities during Reitshepile Developers Club Sports Day

What could have been a quiet school holiday became a day of energy, teamwork and learning as Reitshepile Developers Club brought young children together for a sports day promoting healthy lifestyles and early childhood development. Hosted by Ntombi Ntamane, Christina Moloi and Kate Vilakazi, the event attracted children from 7 local Early Childhood Development (ECD) centres. Despite the hosting it during the school holidays, low attendance and lack of contributions to cover costs, the organisers remained committed to giving children a memorable experience. "Despite our challenges, we gave the children a day to remember. We appreciate every parent, volunteer and supporter who helped make it possible," said Ntamane. The organisers thanked parents, AQuelle for refreshments, Pule Motloung for the venue and SmartStart for its continued support. Following the success of the event, Reitshepile Developers Club hopes to make the sports day an annual fixture and appeals to local businesses to support future editions.

Intouch runs holiday programme

Tutoring, games, arts and crafts, and teamwork formed part of a programme designed to help children learn and grow beyond the classroom

For 28 children in Orange Farm, the July school holidays became more than just a break from classes as they spent the week developing new skills, building confidence and discovering their talents through a youth development programme. Hosted by Intouch Youth Development and Community Justice at the Old Multipurpose Centre in Ext 1, the initiative offered tutoring, educational workshops, arts and crafts, sport, team-building activities and a talent showcase. Intouch founder, Dr Ronald Kapaso, said the programme was designed to give children a safe environment where they could continue learning while enjoying their holiday. "School holidays should be a time where children continue learning, discover their talents and build positive relationships. Every child we empower today contributes to building a stronger Orange Farm tomorrow," he said. The organisation has invited parents to enrol their children in its Homework Assistance Educational Support Programme as it continues to provide academic support, mentorship and life-skills development throughout the year.

Orange Farm stars shine nationally

Players, coaches and officials celebrate the homecoming of kasi champs armed with a silver medal in volleyball and a quarter-final finish

Recent performances by local volleyball and soccer players has reinforced Orange Farm's reputation as a breeding ground for promising young athletes.

The team returned from the National Schools Winter Games in Gqeberha with a silver medal, while Teme Bokang, the only Orange Farm player selected for the Gauteng U17 boys' soccer team, helped the side reach the quarter-finals. Orange Farm Sports Council's (OFASCO) chairperson, Thato Tsotetsi, said the athletes' achievements reflect the dedication of both the players and those who support them. Mpholo strikes national gold

After winning the 50+ 21 km race, Tsekiso Simon Mpholo, is now gunning for the Two Oceans Marathon and World Championships in Taiwan

Months of discipline, sacrifice and determination paid off for Orange Farm Ext 1's long-distance runner, Tsekiso Simon Mpholo, who despite minor injuries during preparation, overcame and scooped gold in the 50+ 21km race at the Athletics South Africa (ASA) Championships in Gqeberha on 27 June.

He has cemented his place among South Africa's top masters athletes by claiming the title against competitors from some of the country's top athletes. "Winning this gold medal means a lot to me because it is one of the most prestigious medals an athlete can earn. To be crowned the South African Masters 50+ champion is an honour I will always cherish," he told OFN. Mpholo is now focusing on the next chapter of his career and with support from the Flexible Athletics Club and its chairman, Thato Tsotetsi, he is targeting next year's Two Oceans Marathon and hopes to qualify for the World Masters Championships in Taiwan. He encourages aspiring athletes to stay committed to their goals: "Perseverance and hard work always pay off," he concluded.
