Science lessons move beyond simulations

After years without proper science laboratory, Orange Farm Secondary learners can finally swap simulations for hands on experiments.

The school received a new Science and Mathematics Laboratory, from Siyaphambili Project on 30 July, following the learners' win in a Natural Science Quiz competition in June.

Physical Sciences teacher, Mr Nduli, told OFN "This is going to be a game changer for our learners."

He welcomed the laboratory and said more apparatus, chemicals and modern equipment were still needed. Siyaphambili Project founder Florence Mlweni, said the laboratory would build learners' confidence and encourage them to pursue careers in STEM.

Boom bap artist keeps hip-hop's golden era alive

Zacharia "Zekkeraps" Sithole is reviving the raw sound of 1990s boom bap with his latest single, Golden Age.

Based in Orange Farm Ext 7B, he blends hard-hitting beats, dusty samples and lyrical storytelling to reflect everyday life in the South while staying true to hip-hop's roots. "My music brings back that raw boom-bap sound while telling stories that people from Orange Farm and other communities in the South can relate to," he said. With Golden Age, Sithole hopes to introduce a new generation to authentic hip-hop while proudly representing his hometown.

Mastro RSA drops the mic!

Mlungisi Samson Mbele, widely known as Mastro RSA, has announced his retirement from music and social media.

The local artist said personal circumstances influenced his decision to step away from public life and return to his family home in Petrus Steyn. "After many years of creating music, it is high time I stopped and became the man of my dreams," he said. Mbele thanked supporters and Orange Farm News for backing his journey. "Mastro RSA is no more. Now there is only Mlungisi Samson Mbele," he said, closing the chapter with a final message: "Thank you, and goodbye."

Elkiddy Mn releases Bafuna S'hlukane

A fresh collaboration has landed on streaming platforms as Drieziek 4 artist Elkiddy Mn teams up with Onetime Shobane on Bafuna S'hlukane.

Released on 31 July, the track adds to the growing catalogue of music emerging from Orange Farm's independent scene.

"This is a release that the Orange Farm community can be proud of," said Elkiddy Mn.

As founder of Rehabilitation Records, he is building his career while creating a platform for local talent.

The song follows a pre-save campaign and aims to connect with listeners while strengthening his presence in the entertainment industry.

Choir earns national CIMA honour

Choir members hold their award after being recognised for their contribution to Apostolic music

Lefelleng Apostolic Church Choir has won the Best Apostolic Music Award at the second annual Choral Indigenous Music Awards (CIMA).

The honour was presented at AMPD Studios in Newtown, Johannesburg, on 25 July, placing the choir among South Africa's leading indigenous music performers.

"This award belongs to every member who sacrificed their time and worked tirelessly to preserve our music," said conductor, Teboho Tsotetsi. He added that the recognition would motivate the choir to develop its sound and involve younger singers.

The awards celebrate artists protecting South Africa's diverse choral traditions, cultural stories and musical heritage.

Artist carves kasi memories into art

Orange Farm artist Vusumuzi Nkosi is turning memories of township life into bold visual records of family, identity and resilience.

Using linocut, charcoal, pastel and mixed media, Nkosi captures children, neighbourhood spaces and everyday moments that might otherwise be forgotten.

"Each artwork becomes a record of the people, places and emotions that shape my life," he said.

Trained at Artist Proof Studio, Nkosi has exhibited locally and internationally, including at Documenta 15 in Germany. Rather than presenting township life only through hardship, his work celebrates its creativity, dignity and humanity while inviting viewers to reflect on their own memories.

Matsoho a thuso a fihla Bophelo Bo Teng

A joyful moment brings Bophelo Bo Teng, residents and African Bank representatives together following a day of commemorating Mandela Day for persons with disability

Acts of kindness took centre stage as Bophelo Bo Teng Disability Home and Stimulation Centre hosted a Mandela Day donation drive on 31 July. The initiative called on residents to donate toiletries, clothing, blankets, food and other essentials for people with disabilities and older persons. Held under the theme 67 Minutes of Kindness, the campaign encouraged the community to honour Nelson Mandela's legacy through practical acts of compassion. Project manager, Selina Mbatha, said the support received made a meaningful difference to the centre. "We are truly grateful for every contribution and all the stakeholders that attended. African Bank donated essential items, which will go a long way in supporting our residents," she said. Organisers said every donation, regardless of size, will help improve the lives of vulnerable residents while promoting dignity, care and community support.

Placards, empty containers and blocked roads show residents' frustration after years waiting for basic services

Years of unanswered pleas pushed Golden View residents onto the streets as they demanded water, sanitation and electricity from the City of Johannesburg. The informal settlement has reportedly waited for services since 2019, despite repeated engagements with officials. "We have been promised water and electricity for years, but nothing has changed," resident Gwebityala Mnokwe said. Community leader Ntando Khulu said donated JoJo tanks remained unused because Johannesburg Water had not completed inspections. MMC Jack Sekwaila promised temporary water trucks, saying residents should not have to protest for basic services while longer-term processes continue.

Residents demand answers at Orange Farm imbizo

Service delivery concerns dominated the Gauteng Provincial Government's Imbizo Wednesday at Orange Farm Skills Centre on 29 July. Resident Tshupo called for an investigation into a contractor repeatedly awarded local tenders, alleging that damaged roads, pipes and other infrastructure were deteriorating after completed projects. "The company is not from Orange Farm, yet it keeps receiving tenders while our infrastructure is slowly collapsing," he said. He also raised concerns about the Orange Farm Police Station, describing it as under-equipped and unable to respond effectively to local needs. The imbizo gave residents a platform to demand accountability directly from provincial officials

Matric learners get glimpse of life after school

Learners interact with speakers and exhibitors while exploring study options and career opportunities ahead

Grade 12 learners from 11 Orange Farm schools explored study and career opportunities during a career exhibition hosted by MP Tebogo Letsie and MPL Ntsako Mogobe on 24 July. Held at the open space opposite the Orange Farm Multipurpose Centre in Ext 4, the event connected learners with higher education institutions, skills development programmes and career guidance. "The exhibition is part of our commitment to exposing young people to opportunities available after matric and helping them make informed decisions about their future careers," Letsie said. The initiative equipped learners with information to plan their futures with confidence.

Kasi champs step into big league

Proud smiles as the team receives the Hollywoodbets Regional League registrations paper, marking major step forward for grassroots football

Junior Stars FC has turned years of hard work into a breakthrough after securing a place in the Hollywoodbets Regional League.

The move provides a bigger platform, tougher competition and a chance for local players to attract the attention of scouts. Orange Farm Local Football Association's secretary, Patrick Mokwena, told OFN:

"This is a well-deserved achievement and a testament to the club's commitment, discipline and hard work."

He urged the players to represent the community with pride as they enter a demanding new chapter. For young footballers watching from the sidelines, this club's rise proves that local talent can progress beyond grassroots football.

The players are looking for community support to raise R6 460 each for transport, accommodation, meals and apparel.

Speaking to OFN, Mokoena said: "I am honoured to represent Sedibeng and any support will help me take the next step." Dlamini added: "It has always been my dream to compete at this level. Orange Farm United's netballers celebrate securing second spot in the U13 league standings this month after a strong showing

The Region G2 U13 Netball League delivered tight contests and shifting standings at Masibambane College on 1 August, as young players from Orange Farm and nearby communities showed growing confidence on the court.

With teams having completed between one and four matches, the table remains unpredictable and every point matters.

Orange Farm Netball League coordinator Gift "Coach Sbu" Gabelane praised the teams for their energy and sportsmanship. "The marvellous games had us on the edge of our seats," he said.

Beyond the results, the competition is giving young athletes valuable match experience while developing discipline, teamwork and skills.

Residents hit the streets for a healthier and united community

Wilbeesfontein walk puts inclusion in motion

Residents of all ages and abilities joined a 5km Fun Walk in Lakeside on 31 July to promote health, inclusion and community unity.

Hosted by Wilbeesfontein Clinic and Solly Mathe Foundation, the Yellow Month event encouraged active living while ensuring that people with disabilities could participate fully. "The walk showed me how capable people with disabilities are," said Felani Hemeni. Organiser, Kutlwano Paledi, said the event also helped educate residents about caring for their health. The walk carried a simple message: stronger communities are built when everyone is included.
